

SAVE THE DATE

COMMUNICATION

"Empowering Local Leadership for Indiana Soil and Water Conservation"

As District leaders work with their county government and navigate partnerships between county, state and federal agencies and other partners, strong interpersonal communication skills become critical. Participants in the Leadership Institute's Cornerstone Communication will explore the following aspects of this vital skill set.

- Building Relationships with Others
- Listening to Understand Others
- Speaking Your Message Clearly
- Influencing Others

Please Join Us

August 7-8, 2009

Holiday Inn Conference Center, Columbus

Friday activities include a visit to the award-winning Simmons Winery & Nortonburg Wine Garden. After a tasting and strolls through the vineyard and garden, we'll enjoy a customized dinner and the opportunity to visit with other SWCD Supervisors. The Simmons family will also join us firsthand to share their experiences with Indiana winemaking and diversification on their 120 year-old farm. Other attractions for spouses while the workshop is in session include shopping in the quaint village of Nashville and the Premium Outlets Mall in Edinburgh, or exploring Columbus, recently ranked by National Geographic as one of the best historic destinations in the world.

For more information, please visit our Web site at:

<http://www.in.gov/isda/2638.htm>

The Communication workshop is the second cornerstone of Leadership Institute's premiere program, Cornerstones of Leadership, a four-part leadership development workshop series tailored specifically to Indiana Soil and Water Conservation District Supervisors.

